Introduction of the event:

On August 8, 2024, the Department of History at Vidya Vikas Arts, Commerce, and Science College inaugurated the History Study Circle in the college auditorium at 11:00 AM. The History Study Circle is a platform for undergraduate and postgraduate students of History to engage in various academic and co-curricular activities that deepen their understanding of the subject. The inauguration ceremony was presided over by Prof. Nizam Madam, with Prof. Pranali Ghubade as the chief guest. Both dignitaries provided valuable guidance to the students about the history of ancient India and the various opportunities available in the subject, inspiring them to explore its richness and relevance in modern contexts. The event began with an introductory speech by Dr. Vithoba Chandankhede, Head of the Department of History, who outlined the purpose of the study circle and highlighted the planned activities aimed at enriching the academic journey of History students. During the event, the president, secretary, and members of the History Study Circle were formally announced, marking the beginning of their roles in steering the group toward its objectives. The program concluded with a vote of thanks delivered by the student president of the History Study Circle, expressing gratitude to all dignitaries, faculty members, and students for their support and participation. The inauguration laid a strong foundation for the History Study Circle, fostering a collaborative environment for learning, discussion, and growth among History enthusiasts.
