- Introduction of the event:

Home Economics is more than just a subject—it is a life skill that integrates essential knowledge about managing resources, nurturing relationships, promoting health and wellness, and fostering sustainable practices. It teaches us how to balance the demands of daily life, make informed decisions, and contribute positively to our families and communities.

This study circle is designed to serve as a platform for learning and sharing, where we can engage in discussions, share experiences, and explore innovative ideas. Together, we will address various aspects of the subject, including nutrition, household management, financial planning, child development, and sustainable living, ensuring its relevance to modern challenges.

We are delighted to have such enthusiastic participants, and we look forward to your active involvement. Together, let us make this study circle an inspiring and enriching experience for all.

Objective of the event:

- 1) Provide a platform for students to exchange ideas, share experiences, and learn from one another, promoting teamwork and mutual growth.
- 2) understand the foundational concepts and practical applications of Home Economics.
- 3) Inspire students to explore innovative and modern solutions to everyday challenges in home and community management.
